

Abstract

The present invention relates to a method and apparatus for inter-5 domain mobility management for a telephony network. The present invention also relates generally to the H.323 standard for transmitting audio and video data streams, and more particularly to extending the H.323 standard to support mobility in a multimedia communication system with services over packet-based networks.

10

Copyright © 2000 AT&T Knowledge Ventures, L.P. All rights reserved.